WHAT YOUR ARCHIVE COVERS

- Living in Orlando / relocation education — ~195 videos: cost of living, commutes, what money buys where
- Orlando Real LIVE! — 171 live episodes: market news, development updates, open Q&A
- Growth & development reporting — road projects, downtown redevelopment, tourism-tax coverage — city journalism, not just listings
- Luxury & celebrity homes — the reach engine (a 2M-view Shaq mansion tour; the Golden Oak series)
- New construction — builder tours and a 2026 ranking of every Orlando builder

WHAT YOUR AUDIENCE COMES TO YOU TO DECIDE

1. "Which Orlando suburb actually fits my family — Lake Nona, Winter Garden, or somewhere I haven't heard of yet?"
2. "How close to the parks can I afford to live — and what does that commute really look like?"
3. "New construction or resale — and which builders can I actually trust?"
4. "What will taxes, HOA fees, and insurance really add to my monthly payment?"
5. "Is Orlando's growth going to make my neighborhood better — or just more crowded?"

THE PART I CAN'T SEE

What happens to someone who watches several Lake Nona and Winter Garden videos, works out their carrying costs from your archive, narrows their search to those two areas — and never visits the site or calls? From the outside, that person is invisible: I can't tell whether they're being captured somewhere I can't see, or simply gone. That question is what I build tools around.
